This week we (Martha Holden & Jack Holden) are at ZHAW, (University in Zurich) Institute of Childhood, Youth and Family working with our colleague Jim Anglin from the University of Victoria and our colleagues Anna Schmid, lecturer and researcher, Clara Bombach, researcher and lecturer, and Samuel Keller, researcher and lecturer from ZHAW to provide a seminar for these students about the CARE model. Tomorrow we will be joined by practitioners from Switzerland and Hungary to continue the exciting and informative discussion.

On the final day of the seminar at ZHAW in Zurich, Jim Anglin and Martha Holden presented the basic framework of the CARE model and implementation process to Residential Center directors and Government officials from Hungary as well as Residential center directors from Switzerland and FICE Switzerland. Students from the seminar developed provocative and probing questions for participants to discuss in the afternoon. It was stimulating and inspiring. One of the questions posed was "If the relationship between the mother and child is blocked and the mother doesn't want to have anything to do with her child in residential care, what do you do?" Thoughts?
